

Hybrid meetings just got better

Take the pain out of Hybrid Meetings

The world is opening up again and the workforce is slowly returning to the office while demanding flexible work options. Is your meeting room technology ready for this? Are you set up for productive hybrid meetings, with some people working remote and while others in offices?

Logging into a video call from home is easy, but what about joining a call from the office meeting spaces? Can you be sure the camera and microphone are connected? Is the Wi-Fi signal strong? Can you easily share your screen to the call? What if it's a Microsoft Teams call one day, and a Zoom meeting the next?

Introducing Airtame Rooms and the Airtame Hub

We're taking the guesswork out of joining a conference call from your meeting room. The new solution makes video conferencing as simple as turning on the light switch.

Airtame already provides a reliable screen sharing experience in your meeting rooms. Who better to make your hybrid meeting experience easy, stable and hassle-free?

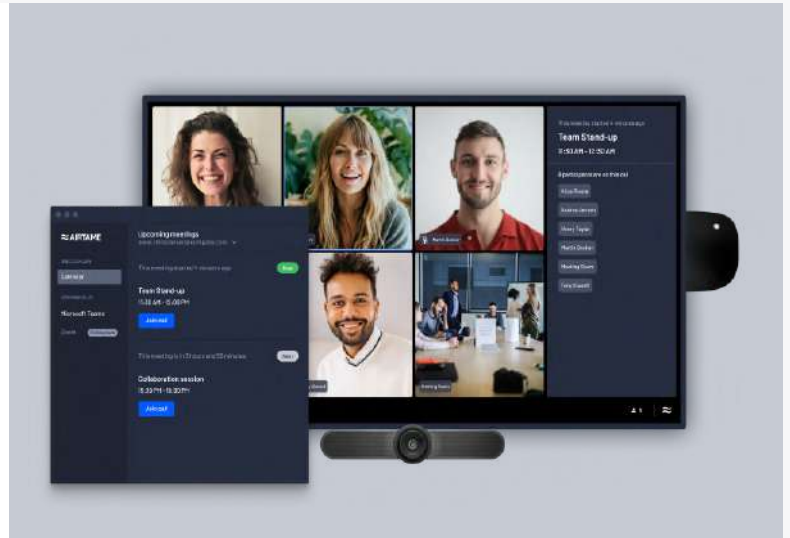

- Join any call* without worrying about which meeting you get invited to
- Everything runs on Airtame, not on your laptop
- Screen share from the meeting room, without joining the call
